Bear & Cub Caves

San Antonio is the largest city with an aquifer as a sole source for drinking water. Learn about the Edwards Aquifer and programs protecting the resource.

Flood Control

In 1998 San Antonio experienced the largest flood ever recorded in this area. While large areas of the City experienced flooding conditions, the downtown area including our famed Riverwalk did not due to this impressive flood control structure known as the San Antonio River tunnel. Completed in April 1998, the River Tunnel prevented disastrous flooding downtown, avoiding the loss of numerous lives and billions of dollars in property damage. Tour this unique flood control infrastructure via land and water!

Brooks City-Base

The Air Force and the City of San Antonio joined forces to define a new goal, develop a new process, and create an opportunity to plan for success. The result is the planning process and implementation activities that will result in the Brooks Technology and Business Park.
